WESWELL, THE OFFICE OF HEALTH EDUCATION

How to Protest Safely During COVID-19

Before Protesting

- Consider who is in your household and their health. Remember there are other ways to do anti-racist activism if you are concerned about exposing yourself or others.

- Use the buddy system by asking a friend to go with you and let someone know where you are going.

- Know your rights when it comes to getting stopped by the police: aclu.org/know-your-rights/stopped-by-police

- Items to bring: water (helpful in flushing eyes if exposed to tear gas), sunglasses, mask, hand sanitizer, tissues, first aid kit, snacks, hat

Adapted and compiled from:
NAACP at UT Austin, Frontline Medics, Students for Sensible Drug Policy
How to Protest Safely During COVID-19

Before Protesting

- Dress in long sleeves (or bring an outer layer) and wear pants to protect your skin from chemical agents. Wear your hair up and out of your face.

- Write two emergency contacts, with phone numbers onto your hand or arm in permanent marker in case you are arrested.

- Do not wear contact lenses, eye makeup or jewelry. Fully charge your phone and consider bringing an extra battery pack or charger.

- Take care of yourself physically and mentally. Nourish your body with food, stay hydrated and get enough sleep. Stay connected to your support systems and practice self-care.

Adapted and compiled from:
NAACP at UT Austin, Frontline Medics, Students for Sensible Drug Policy
How to Protest Safely During COVID-19 While Protesting

- Stay focused and aware of your surroundings at all times. Do not share images of protesters on social media to protect their identities. Wear a mask and avoid touching your face. Stay at least 6 feet apart from others.

- Document injuries caused by police with photos and note the time and location. Turn off Face ID and Touch ID, switch to Airplane Mode and disable data. Enable a passcode on your phone.

- Stay hydrated. Don't shake hands, hug, share drinks or engage in long face-to-face conversations. Cover your cough and sneeze into your elbow.

- If your eyes are exposed to pepper spray or tear gas:
  - Do not rub them
  - Tilt head sideways and rinse each eye with water
  - Do not flush with milk, the goal is to flush, not neutralize

Adapted and compiled from:
NAACP at UT Austin, Frontline Medics, Students for Sensible Drug Policy
How to Protest Safely During COVID-19

1. Change your clothes as soon as possible, shower and disinfect your belongings.
2. Consider a two-week self-isolation. It is possible to transmit SARS-CoV-2 without showing any symptoms.
3. Continue to take care of yourself mentally, physically and emotionally.
4. Know the COVID-19 testing resources in your community. If you show signs of illness, keep track of your symptoms and consult a physician. cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov

Adapted and compiled from: NAACP at UT Austin, Frontline Medics, Students for Sensible Drug Policy